

The Bee Farmer

Work sheet 6 – Name the queen competition

My Friend and Bee Farmer supporter Alison has been knitting these bees as a mindful exercise during lockdown. Alison thought the swarm should have a queen however the queen does not have a name. I invite you to give her a name. I will pick the one that tickles me. Be inventive, quirky and have fun with it. You can have more than one entry per household.

Email your queen bee name to events@thebeefarmer.co.uk Entries close midnight 31st December. The prize, besides naming the queen, is a selection of Bee Farmer goodies.

What do bees do in winter?

Bees do not hibernate. They diapause. That means they become inactive when the weather is cold and become active when the weather is warm again.

To keep warm they huddle together around the queen and where the honey is stored.

You might find honeybees flying when the air temperature is above 10/12°C. Look out for them on warm days in winter.
